

A research...
launched a £...
million project to track the lives of 400 ordinary people
for five years.

The Timescapes
project, which is funded by the Economic and Social Research Council, will examine participants'
lives and relationships
with friends, family,
parents and partners.

"It is like walking
alongside [parti-
cipients] as their lives
unfold," said Bren Neale of the University of Leeds School of Sociology and Social Policy, who is leading the research.
